INTRODUCTION

The Canadian Inventory of Historic Building (CIHB) is a Canada-wide, computer-based survey developed by the Research Division of the National Historic Parks and Sites Branch of Parks Canada a federal government agency. The survey was conducted during the 1970's and 1980's with the objective of recording the architectural heritage of Canada. The CIHB continues to be used by the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada in assessing the architectural and historical significance of Canadian buildings.

Hamilton's Heritage Volume 3 is a compilation of CIHB structures in the City of Hamilton. The data included within this document have not been updated since the survey was completed. As a result, this compilation likely contains a small number of buildings that no longer exist. In addition, Volume 3 is not a comprehensive list of all buildings of architectural and/or historical interest within the City of Hamilton. This document, Hamilton's Heritage Volume 3: Canadian Inventory of Historic Buildings (CIHB), is a companion volume to previously issued Volumes 1 and 2 that may include duplicated data in those Volumes. Hamilton's Heritage Volume 1: List of Designated Properties and Heritage Conservation Easements under the Ontario Heritage Act (August, 2002) and Hamilton's Heritage Volume 2: Inventory of Buildings of Architectural and/or Historical Interest (September, 2002) contain more extensive and comprehensive listings.

Although Volume 3 contains legacy data that will not be updated in the future, it is an important addition to the City of Hamilton's heritage inventory because it contains data that is more descriptive than Volumes 1 and 2. In the future, Volumes 1 and 2 will be cross-referenced with Volume 3 to ensure that Volumes 1 and 2 are not missing notable heritage features.

Heritage staff has attempted to minimize error in the transfer of data from the CIHB to Volume 3. There are errors in the dataset caused by data currency issues: in the 20 to 30 years since the primary data were gathered, some property addresses and boundaries have changed significantly. These changes have been resolved in the majority of cases through cross-checking of the CIHB dataset with modern mapping, aerial photography, and site checks. A small number, representing approximately 1% of the inventory, remain unaccounted for, and so represent locations with poor data integrity. These remain in the CIHB tables for the record, and the discrepancies may be resolved at a later date.

Inclusion of property in the CIHB neither affects property values nor restricts the use or enjoyment of property at all. No legal restrictions are imposed on property through listing in Hamilton's Heritage Volume 3: The Canadian Inventory of Historic Building.

Format of the Inventory List

The following city listing of CIHB heritage properties contains only basic information, namely: a property address, date of construction (if known) and the building type (using the CIHB code, see appendix A). These data represent a small portion of the original CIHB information. An electronic database is available that provides further details of architectural, geographical and historical properties. Approximately 50 characteristics about the inventoried buildings have been recorded and are contained within an electronic database. Upon request, this information will be made available by the Community Planning and Design Section.

Appendix A: CIHB Building Type Codes

Appendix A contains a list of building types and the codes assigned to them in the CIHB (e.g. 0410, Grocery Store or Supermarket).
